

In my community there are no stations with the same type of programming as K-LOVE. I enjoy listening to this music. In addition, with its message of "positive, encouraging music," to quote the station, many people like my best friend Melissa who has bipolar disorder, it can be a lifesaver. When she is severely depressed it helps her get outside of herself. She has tried to commit suicide more than once in her life, and the songs that she hears on K-Love remind her that there is hope and peace outside the darkness that seems to overwhelm her at times. I am sure there are others like Melissa who need that positive energy and encouragement.

The station also helps by running free ads for events put on by non-profit organizations in the area, an invaluable service. As a member of several non-profit boards, I can tell you we would not be able to help others in the community were it not for the kindness of media outlets like K-LOVE. Please preserve the K-LOVE formatting in my area.

Thank you.
